_What are the benefits for Member States

In a nutshell, Member States get:

_answers to the questions as provided by 21 Member States and 2 EFTA countries

_contact information (stakeholders' names, agencies, etc.)

_information about which authorities are involved in network resilience

_things that might change – what countries want to do

2008_11_12

_What are the benefits for Member States

In a nutshell, Member States get:

_providing URL links to allow other Member States to get easy access to background materials – mostly in English - such as:

- laws (results from the fact that the survey includes lots of questions pertaining to laws)
- toolkits (e.g., mechanisms for reporting incidents, protection measures, and strategy implementation)
- white papers and reports by national agencies regarding resilience

2008_11_12

_What are the benefits for Member States

In a nutshell, Member States get:

_ report provides clear indications of which efforts or policies:

- take how much time and
- what kind of resources are needed in order to:

- successfully implement solutions that have
- a real impact

_Conclusion

How a Member State can get the most out of this report

- 1) introduction – highlights – methodology – what it did and what it could not do
- 2) centralized vs federalistic --- choose 2 or 1 of each
- 3) advanced vs not so advanced – chose 2 of each
- 4) impact – what are the results – choose 2 Member States

_Conclusion

How a Member State can get the most out of this report

2008_11_12

_Conclusion

How a Member State can get the most out of this report

what can be transferred to another country

2008_11_12

_Conclusion

How a Member State can get the most out of this report

Success means many practical steps AND

a _assessment of what was achieved

b_set new goals

c _focus on measurable output (e.g., cut the number of incidents by x%)

2008_11_12

_Conclusion

culture

_Country A citizens focus on the fact that

- 35% of trains arrive more than 5 minutes late and
- 2.5% get cancelled

_Country B citizens focus on the fact that 65% of all trains arrive with less than 5 min. delay

2008_11_12

_Conclusion

Culture

– Stuttgart – Zurich – Florence/Milan/Rome/Venice

➔ it is all about how you look at the country reports, statistics and words used

How does it work in practice (on time, delays, etc.)

Impact ➔ Key Performance Indicators or KPIs used

2008_11_12

_Conclusion

Regulation is only the start

Making it happen is what counts

2008_11_12

Report shows how resilience can be implemented successfully = each country report illustrates at least 1 success
